Selaginellas

Selaginellas are commonly referred to as Spike Mosses while some species of the genus are called Peacock Ferns. They are usually small plants with primitive characteristics that are fernlike, mosslike and clubmosslike.

Selaginellas are popular among gardeners and are propagated for sale by nurseries all over the world. Different varieties of young Selaginella plants in small pots are usually sold through the Florist trade because of their high impulse sale. Landscape suppliers produce mainly hardy ones for landscaping and [illegible] planting.

From Samar to Singapore: The Journey of Boy Abunda

Many people know that Boy Abunda is proudly probinsyano. With all his success and achievements, the Asian TV Awards winner and the country's "King of Talk" never forgets to trace his roots. Despite growing up in Borongan, Eastern Samar, which is one of the poorest provinces in the country, he never thought of his background as a hindrance to who he would become.

As an interviewer, Boy Abunda has won the respect of audiences because he is usually never afraid to ask the tough questions. No matter who he faces — a president, a senator, [illegible] for him, like Kris Aquino [illegible] his most unforgettable interview — Boy is always prepared and ready, and it shows in the outcome of the interview. P&G and Ariel: Innovating Laundry and the Philippine Advertising Landscape

Laundry Goes 3D with new Ariel Stainlift 3D Deep Clean Technology!

3D technology is innovating how we see and experience the world by revealing the multiple layers of a seemingly flat object or image. 3D has been a revolutionary advancement in many fields – from the entertainment industry with 3D movies and games to professional industries like medicine, architecture and industrial design. But 3D in laundry?

Inspired by the 3D revolution and with knowledge gained from 3D technology, Procter & Gamble developed the new Ariel Stainlift with breakthrough deep cleaning formula it effectively removes dirt and stains from deep within through a 3-step Deep Cleaning process. First, Ariel unlocks the clothing fibers. Second, Ariel reduced the negative charge of its cleaning agent particles to reduce repulsion and enable it to penetrate deeper. Generally, cleaning agent particles have a highly negative charge, which creates a natural repulsion between the agent and the fibers, which are also negatively charged. Third, it removes the dirt and stains from the deep fiber layers to give a 3D deep clean in, out, and in between.
